southern california

Dugally Oberfeld redefines grandeur. Internationally recognized, the firm has become synonymous with exacting standards. Catering to the rich and famous, founder Aleck Dugally, along with sons Matt and Mark, and partner Mauricio Oberfeld, claim almost as high a profile as the celebrities and entrepreneurs for whom they build. Their projects' classic style could be inspired by a Tuscan villa or a French château, or be in Miami contemporary, yet all are tailored to the owner's taste. Matt Dugally points out that the firm's clients appreciate "having the best" regardless of whether the home is meant as simply a sanctuary or a reflection of a lifetime of achievement. Building great homes in spectacular settings starts at the front end, he says. Relationships with craftsmen, affiliates and employees are highly valued. Together they all methodically work through each step of what could otherwise be a complex process. Dugally Oberfeld clients, however, never feel the challenge. "We make it seamless. The integration is already built in," says Aleck Dugally. On the back end, maintenance contracts and concierge referral services help clients meet the logistical requirements of managing an estate. For clients whose expectations run high, Dugally Oberfeld sets an extraordinarily refined table.
